Dr. V. CHIDAMBARAM
 THE SURGEON GENERAL -- THE GREAT

It's a well-known fact that every successful person doesn't do things in a different way but in a distinguished way. Yes; that is how Dr. V.Chidambaram the Surgeon General of Madurai, became the Major General in the field of surgical society.

Dr. V.Chidambaram was born on 15th March 1949 in an elegant village called Angarayanallur of Jeyamkondam Cholapuram of ancient Chola Kingdom. This star-studded toddler, after finishing his primary studies in the vicinity of his village, had his secondary school studies in the famous St. Joseph School, Trichy. The prestigious Madurai Medical College was his Alma. Ata for both MBBS and MS. In the year 1973, Selvi Gnanamani was his right choice as his life partner and blessed with a son and daughter.

After working in various places of Tamilnadu in the Govt. Health Services, his services at Govt.Rajaji hospital, was noteworthy because he developed his skill by working under stalwarts of various specialties and started operating from head to foot. He was one among the team for the first open heart surgery at Madurai at GSH. This is how this surgeon general promoted himself as a Major General in the surgical field. In the meantime, he was awarded MNAMS by the National Board of Examinations.

He was the role model for his students and a noted guide for his own fellow surgeons. His bedside manners in the ward clinical rounds and his theatre discipline inside the operation theatre were exemplary. His stylish soft tissue dissection with his dancing fingers was a visual feast for onlookers. Any procedure he did inside the theatre stood as a humdinger forever. He is exceptional because he taught "what not to do" in surgery rather than "what to do." None of his birthdays missed blood donation for poor patients. This amble gentleman to the core left behind a cornucopia of memories and laurels, which were aptly taken over by his son, Dr. Saravanan.

We, the devoted disciples of him, bound for a great salute to this Major Surgeon General of Madurai.

World Hygiene Day 2026

World Hand Hygiene Day was observed and celebrated at the Government Thiruvannamalai Microbiology Department under the presidentship of Dean Prof. Dr. J. A. Jayalal, with the theme "Action Saves Lives — Safer Care Starts with Clean Hands."

We were honoured to welcome Prof. Dr. Zameer Pasha, Chairman, TNASI, and Prof. Dr. M. Kanagavel as Guests of Honour, alongside the Medical Superintendent and Vice Principal. The event showcased exemplary demonstrations and a moving mime performance by students, highlighting simple yet lifesaving hand-hygiene practices.

Clean hands are the cornerstone of infection prevention — in health care settings and everyday life. Proper handwashing and hand-rub techniques reduce the spread of infections, protect patients and caregivers, and strengthen the resilience of our health systems. On this day and every day, let us commit to consistent hand hygiene: wash with soap and water or use an alcohol-based hand rub at critical moments, follow recommended techniques, and promote a culture of safety in our communities.

Hearty congratulations to Prof. Dr. Sowmiya, Head of the Microbiology Department, and her dedicated team for organising this impactful observance and for their continued leadership in promoting patient safety and public health.
